WELCOME

University of Maryland 1994-95 Men's Basketball

WELCOME to the University of Maryland. Head Coach Gary Williams and his team welcomes your interest and hopes that you enjoy your visit to Cole Field House. The Terps are looking forward to an extraordinary season of pressure defense and up-tempo basketball that will make Cole one of the more exciting places in the nation to watch a game. This media guide has been prepared as a source of information for you, the news media.

Before Your Visit

Game credentials are issued to accredited members of the media only. Working space in the press area of Cole is limited and seats are expressly reserved for those working on deadline, with no exceptions. Children and other non-workers are not allowed in the press area.
Requests for credentials should be made in writing and on letterhead stationery to Chuck Walsh, Sports Information Director for Men's Basketball. If it is convenient for you to FAX your request, you are welcome to do so. The FAX number in the Sports Information Office is (301) 314-9094.
These requests are accepted from Sports Editors and Sports Directors only. When time permits, a working press pass and a parking pass will be mailed. When this is not possible, they will be left at the Press Will Call entrance at the back door of Cole. The back door of Cole directly faces Byrd Stadium.

Photographers, too, should make their credential requests at least one week in advance. Photographers should note that the Cole Field House lights are color balanced for daylight. An exposure setting of /250 at f2.8 has been found to work well with ASA 400 film and normal processing. Strobe lights may be installed in Cole; but arrangements must be made though the Sports Information Office two weeks in advance. Space for strobe lights is available on a first come, first served basis.

Game Day Press Parking is located in parking garage 1, located to the left of the back of Cole Field House. Access is via press parking pass only.

Media Work Room

A press work room is available for working media only at the court level of Cole. The new media work room is located just off of the basketball court to your left. A limited number of long distance phone lines are available on a first-come, first served basis and require a credit card for billing.

The newly opened room opens well before game time and media representatives are welcome to make themselves comfortable. Food service is available to the media in the press room as a pre-game meal is served buffet style. A half-time and post-game beverage service is also available. The pre-game buffet is available one hour before tip-off.

Media should note that this room is newly constructed and is located just behind press row in the Northwest corner of the arena. Food and drinks will not be allowed on press row.

Fax Machine Services

Fax machine service will be available in the press room. If you need any information faxed to your newspaper, please submit your request to a member of the Sports Information Office.

Press Seating

Press seating is located on the basketball floor in the northwest corner of the arena. The area is manned by members of the Sports Information Office throughout the game. The Sports Information staff desires to help the media be as comfortable as possible during each game.

Photographers

The NCAA has established a policy to control congestion in the photography areas on the basketball court. Admission to the court and the photo boxes is by photo pass only. Photographers, both still and electronic must shoot from the baselines at the Northwest (Maryland Bench end/directly in front of press seating) and Southeast (visiting bench) corners of the court. Photographer's floor access is governed by Atlantic Coast Conference policy. Please note that only game photographers; no runners, assistants or producers will have access to the photography areas. Photographers are also welcome to shoot from the photo deck on the West side of Cole. Access to the photo deck is from the concourse level opposite the team benches. Photographer positions are at the complete discretion of the basketball game officials and the Sports Information Office AT ALL TIMES.

In-Season Interview Policy

All of the Maryland players and Head Coach Gary Williams will be available for interviews with accredited members of the media throughout the season. All interview requests must be made through the Sports Information Office, contacting Chuck Walsh, Herb Hartnett or joe f. blair. Player interviews are conducted before practice in the media work room. Please contact Please allow for 24 hours prior notice. Player's individual phone numbers will not be given to the media and game day interviews will not be granted until the end of a game.

The Sports Information Office is located on the main level of Cole Field House in room 1102. The phone number is (301) 314-7065 and the FAX number is (301) 314-9094.

Practices are open to the media with few exceptions. The team generally practices from 3 to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday. Weekend practice times vary; media wishing to attend practice should contact the Sports Information Office ahead of time. Still and electronic photographers are welcome to practice provided they do not interfere with the practice.

Post Game Press-Conferences

Post game coaches interviews are held in the basketball lounge adjacent to the media work room and the Maryland locker room. Coaches from both teams will brought to the interview area after each game. Coach Gary Williams will appear first, immediately after he talks to his team. He will be followed by the visiting coach. The Maryland Locker Room is open to credentialed media for a brief period after Coach Williams concludes his comments to the media. This is in accordance with ACC rules. The visiting team's locker room access policy is determined by officials of that school.

Post Game Statistics

Statistics packets, including running play-by-play, first half and final boxscores and post-game quotes are compiled following every game and made available to the media at press row and in the press room.

Welcome to the University of Maryland's Cole Field House. We hope you enjoy your visit.

Terps Return Entire Package after Glorious Run in NCAA Tournament

All-America Candidate Joe Smith Heads Cast of Top Honors Candidates

During its glorious run in the 1994 NCAA Tournament, the University of Maryland proclaimed its return to the hierarchy of the collegiate basketball world.

Maryland marched to the "Sweet 16" of the NCAA Tournament with All-America Joe Smith, the most celebrated freshman in the nation and an electrifying cast of starters who led the Terps to their most successful season in nearly a decade. With every player returning, the 1995 Terps find themselves in a very enviable situation. They will begin the season among the favorites in the Atlantic Coast Conference and ranked among the Top-15 teams in the nation.

Maryland did everything it was told it was too young to do last season. The Terps were supposed to have been too young, too small and too thin, both physically and in terms of depth, to compete within the rigors of ACC and national competition. The Terps started three sophomores and two freshmen throughout the year, and because of their talent level, were able to compete in the top conference and with the top teams in the country.

The expectations are high, the talent level is even higher, and the sky is the limit for one of the most exciting teams in Maryland basketball history. Maryland is a team of the future that has arrived early.

The Terps return one of the most balanced teams, offensively and defensively, in the history of the program. Each of the five returning starters averaged in double figures in scoring as Maryland finished second in the ACC in scoring offense. (The Terps scored an average of 80 points per game.) Defensively, the Terps led the ACC in steals, with nearly 10 each game, and turnover margin, plus 2.3. The team finished second in blocked shots, 5.6 each game, and were among the leaders in scoring defense and rebounds per game.

Under Head Coach Gary Williams, now in his sixth year at Maryland, the Terps will continue to play their trademark type of basketball: pressing and trapping on the defensive end of the court and fast breaking when they can, on the offensive end. As is the case with all Williams' led teams, much of the on-court responsibilities will fall on the strong capabilities of the back court.

The Terps return one of college basketball's emerging starting guard combinations in juniors Duane Simpkins and Johnny Rhodes. Simpkins and Rhodes enjoyed stellar seasons as sophomores with both earning Honorable Mention All-ACC honors. Simpkins developed into one of the top point guards and showed, with his strong three-game performance in the NCAA Tournament, that he has the ability to control the reigns of the team. Rhodes is third on Maryland's all-time steals list with 149 during his two year career and is also third all-time with 99 career three-point shots made.

Simpkins exhibited his true point guard qualities last season as he started all 30 games and averaged a career best 11.8 points and a team leading 4.5 assists. His extraordinary play in the 1994 NCAA Tournament put him in position as one of the top returning point guards in the nation. He averaged 12.7 points and 7.3 assists per game and passed for a career high 11 assists versus St. Louis in the NCAA Tournament first round. Further proving his status as one of the top point guards in the country, his assist to turnover ratio was nearly 2:1 in the NCAA Tournament — against three of the premier back courts in the nation.

Rhodes led the ACC in steals at 2.3 per game and was Maryland's third leading scorer at 12.5 per game. Already, he is third all-time in the ACC with a 2.6 steals per game average. He is Maryland's top outside shooting threat and has the ability to play the point. When moved to the point guard position, Rhodes has an extra advantage. At 6-5, he is able to see over shorter guards which enable him to create shots for himself or passing lanes for teammates. In addition to his defensive capabilities, he led all ACC guards with 6.8 rebounds a game. He became the first guard in Maryland history to grab over 200 rebounds last season.

Simpkins and Rhodes will be joined in the back court by senior Wayne Bristol, sophomores Matt Kovarik and Matt Raydo and freshman Sarunas Jasikevicius.

Bristol, one of three Terp seniors, will add depth, outside shooting ability and scoring punch to Maryland's back-court. Bristol is Maryland's most experienced player, having played in 65 career games and is one of the teams' quickest players. He is a proven scorer, as evidenced by his career high 15 points versus North Carolina his junior season and 10 versus Clemson his sophomore season.

Kovarik came to Maryland as a lead guard and proved to be just that as he averaged 8.7 minutes in 29 games as a freshman. He quickly proved that he could score, pass and play defense against any opponent. He developed quickly as the first point guard off the bench as a backup to Simpkins and showed good consistency on his outside jump shot. By the end of the season, he was an important part of Williams's rotation off the bench. Raydo, a walk-on, epitomizes the team concept with his all-out hustle and determination on the court.

In Jasikevicius, Maryland landed the stinging outside shooter it desperately craved. As a high school senior, he shot 38 percent from beyond the three-point arc while averaging 20.5 points per game. Jasikevicius possesses a quick release and strong ability to get open from the outside.

Maryland's front-line will be anchored by sophomore center Joe Smith, the 1994 consensus National Freshman of the Year. Smith started all 30 games and averaged 19.4 points and 10.7 rebounds while earning Honorable Mention All-America and First Team All-ACC honors. The freshman sensation was also named the Rookie of the Year in the ACC, beating out North Carolina's Rasheed Wallace and Jerry Stackhouse, Duke's Jeff Capel and Wake Forest's Tim Duncan.

Smith will be relied upon heavily by the Terps for scoring, rebounding and defense. He displayed those remarkable all-around abilities as a freshman as he scored in double figures in all but one game, led the Terps in rebounding an incredible 22 times and blocked 93 shots. He is already fifth on the all-time Maryland blocked shot list. Smith also displayed his ability to play well in big games as he averaged 21.3 points and 107 rebounds versus 10 ranked teams.

Smith will be joined in the front court by power forward Keith Booth and wing Exree Hipp. Booth quietly enjoyed an impressive season as he earned Honorable Mention All-ACC and Honorable Mention All-ACC freshmen team honors while, Hipp displayed a dependable consistency on the offensive end of the court to earn himself Honorable Mention All-ACC Honors.

Booth, a muscular forward who is asked to guard the opponent's top big man on a game by game basis, stepped to the forefront as a defender throughout his freshman season. He averaged 10.8 points and was the Terps' third leading rebounder at 6.1 per game. Booth's presence in the Maryland lineup is evidenced by the Terps' record when he plays 30 minutes or more during a game: 9-5. Conversely, when he played 25 minutes or less the Terps were 3-4. He showed his offensive abilities during the NCAA Tournament as he averaged 14.0 points including a team high 17 versus Michigan.

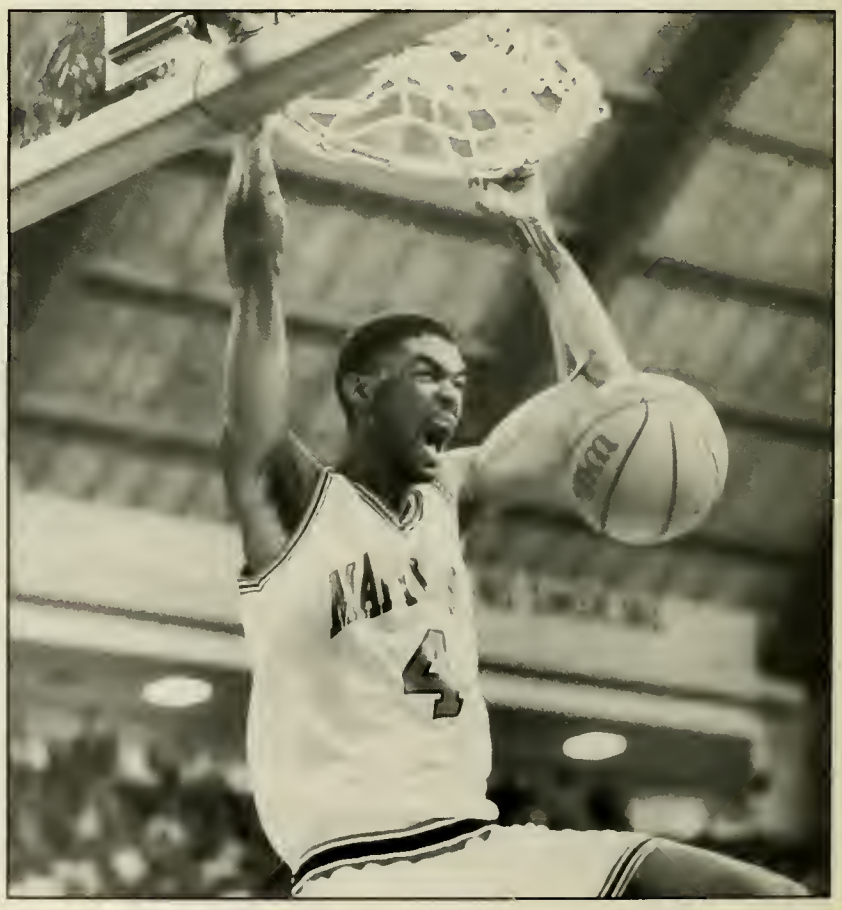
Hipp displayed the ability to be considered among the most exciting players in the nation on numerous occasions last year. He may have been at his best versus No. 9 Massachusetts in the second round of the NCAA Tournament as he scored a personal NCAA Tournament best of 19 points on eight of 11 shooting from the field in 35 minutes to help the Terps to the monumental victory. It was Hipp's jumper in the lane that gave Maryland a 66-65 lead with 10:39 remaining in the second half, a lead that Maryland did not relinquish on its way to victory over the second-seeded Minutemen. Hipp was the leading scorer among sophomores in the ACC last season.

Mario Lucas, a junior who came on during the second half of the season a year ago, will help fortify the front line. Lucas grew comfortable with his all-important sixth man role as his sophomore season progressed and by season's end was one of the top players off the bench in the ACC. Lucas saved his best for the NCAA Tournament as he scored 10 points to help lead Maryland past No. 9 Massachusetts and into the NCAA Tournament "Sweet 16". Lucas came off the bench to replace Keith Booth, who was charged with his fourth foul late in the first half, and helped lead Maryland to the 95-87 victory. After going scoreless in the first half, Lucas started the second and set forth to play an incredible 20 minutes of basketball. His three-pointer stemmed the tide and allowed Maryland to sway the momentum its way.

Another anticipated key front court player is freshman Rodney Elliott. At a strong 6-8, 207 pounds, Elliott is expected to add depth and rebounding help off the bench. In addition to his rebounding skills, Elliott is versatile enough to be able to take his talents out to the wing as a shooter and is a very instinctive passer. The coaching staff is looking for Elliott to continue his improvement and he should make a major contribution this season.

Senior Kurtis Shultz is a player who has produced solid, quality minutes for the Terps at the forward position throughout his three year career. He has played in 55 career games and is among the hardest working players, both in practice and games and is a strong defender and very effective rebounder. Donny Judd, a walk-on, is a good practice player who has a solid game at the defensive end of the court.

With five experienced starters back, a bench that logged a great deal of minutes a year ago and a quality recruiting class, the Terps are looking to become entrenched in college basketball's upper echelon. Besides a 16-game ACC schedule, the Terps open the season at the Maui Invitational where they could meet nationally ranked Michigan or Indiana, among others. In addition, the Terps will face Massachusetts in early December and Cincinnati in February; both were conference champions and played in the NCAA Tournament a year ago.



COACHES

Gary Williams & Company

GARY WILLIAMS

6th Year Head Coach At His Alma Mater

"I have always felt that we could be good here," said Gary Williams during Maryland's magical ride to the "Sweet 16" of the 1994 NCAA Basketball Tournament. "The tools are here - a big school, a good place to play and a great league."

Williams made the University of Maryland a great place to play and returned the fervor of playing basketball to a team and an entire University last season, his fifth at Maryland. With Williams at the helm, Maryland realized that it could be a good basketball program - a very good basketball program. A program that could compete among the best teams in the nation once again.

Just as Maryland is back among the elite teams in the nation, so too is its head coach. Williams is at the top of his profession once again. He was among the brightest coaches in the nation when he took Boston College to the "Sweet 16" twice during the early 1980s and he was hot too, when he coached Ohio State in the rugged Big Ten during the later part of the decade.

Williams has restored the shining glory to a very proud program and has returned Maryland to the national spotlight. It did not come without a great deal of effort, but Williams has accomplished what many questioned during the early years of his career at Maryland.

Williams has helped return Maryland to the upper echelon of college basketball by teaching his teams to play with relentless intensity. Williams's teams play the game from end line to end line for 40 minutes each night. His team's style reflects Williams's own dedication and committment to the game he has coached so successfully for more than two decades.

Williams, who is approaching his 300th career victory, is in his 17th season as a head coach on the collegiate level. He has a career record of 286-197. Ten times in his 16 years, Williams has led teams to post-season play, taking American University, Boston Collge, Ohio State and Maryland - each stop on his head coaching resume - to post-season action.

In his five seasons at Maryland, Williams's won-loss record stands at 79-69. His out of conference record as Maryland's head coach is an incredible 49-14 (.777), including a 10-4 mark last season which included victories over nationally ranked powers Georgetown, St. Louis and Massachusetts.

Williams is the only coach to direct programs in the three most powerful conferences in college basketball - The Atlantic Coast, The Big East and The Big Ten. During Williams's combined 12 years in those three conferences, the national champion has come from Williams's league six times (three in his five years in the ACC, twice in his four years in the Big East and once in his three years in the Big Ten.)

A 1968 graduate of Maryland, Williams lettered as the Terps' starting point guard from 1964-67 under Head Coach Bud Millikan. He served as team captain during his senior season. It was as a player at Maryland and in the ACC that Williams developed his basketball philosophy. He studied the game as a player under Millikan and it was then that he developed his penchant for the fullcourt pressure defenses for which his teams are known. The fast-breaking offense that Wiliams's teams employ is similar to the style that Vic Bubas's Duke teams used when Williams was a player.

Williams began his coaching career as a graduate student at Maryland under a future boss, Tom Davis. Williams was Davis's assistant coach for the Maryland freshmen team during the 1969 season. The team finished with a final record of 12-4.

Williams continued his coaching career as an assistant at Woodrow Wilson High School in Camden, New Jersey. After one year, he took over as the head coach and guided his first team to a perfect 27-0 record and the state title.

Williams spent one more year at Woodrow Wilson before accepting an invitation from Davis in 1972 to become an assistant at Lafayette College. In 1978, Williams accompanied Davis to Boston College. After one year there, Williams became the head coach at American University.

Williams immediately began making his mark as a head coach on the collegiate level. His 1981 squad set the still-standing school record for victories with a 24-6 mark, won the East Coast Conference Championship, and played in the NIT. Williams was named the District Coach of the Year for the team's accomplishments. American returned to postseason play the next season as the Williams-led Eagles went 21-9 and played in the NIT for the second consecutive year. Only once prior to Williams's arrival had AU gone to a postseason tournament, and the Eagles have not returned to postseason play since. Williams's four-year record at AU was 72-42.

In 1983, Williams succeeded Davis at Boston College. He was once again an instant success, posting a 25-7 record and leading the Eagles to the regular season championship of the Big East in his first season. Making his first appearance in the NCAA Tournament, Williams directed the Eagles to the "Sweet 16." He finished third in the balloting for National Coach of the Year and was honored as the Eastern Coach of the Year by his peers. He went on to duplicate that NCAA Tournament success again in 1985, when he again led BC to the "Sweet 16."

In 1987, Williams accepted the head coaching job at Ohio State, becoming the tenth basketball coach in that school's illustrious history. He succeeded Eldon Miller and once again enjoyed success. His first Buckeye squad defeated then No. 1 and unbeaten Iowa (coached by Tom Davis) in the regular season, in what would be the first of many giant-kilings by the Williams-led Buckeyes. During Williams's three year term at Ohio State, OSU defeated a second ranked Purdue team, perennial power Kansas and highly regarded Big Ten powers Michigan and Illinois. Each of Williams's three Ohio State teams advanced to post-season play, and he laid the groundwork for the highly successful teams that followed when he left Columbus for College Park.

"YOU ENJOY DOING WHAT YOU'RE GOOD AT"

How did your great passion for basketball come about?

I guess it gradually developed. I was five years old when I first started to play basketball. I can remember trying to shoot a basketball when I was five years old. I couldn't get it into the basket, but I loved to bounce the ball. The first league I was in I was eight years old, and I played in a Little League type-league. From there, I just kept playing. I played all sports, but as I got into junior high I just liked basketball. South Jersey was a big basketball area. The Big Five in Philadelphia was at its peak with Villanova, St. Joe's, Temple, Penn and La Salle. There was no Big East or Atlantic 10 in the East at the time. So, it was just Big Five basketball. If you were growing up there, that is what you did. I played all summer and all winter and just stayed with it. When I got into high school I really concentrated on basketball though I played baseball, too.

How did you come to be at Maryland?

I visited Pittsburgh, Maryland and Clemson and a couple of the Big 5 schools. But I knew Maryland was in the ACC which, was also the top conference back then. I visited it, liked it and decided to come.

When you first began bouncing a basketball, did you want to be a player or a coach?

You don't really think about it. You just like messing around with a ball. I think my grandfather had a lot to do with it. He was a pretty good athlete when he was young. He played baseball and basketball. He always encouraged me to play baseball or basketball or whatever was around. It was just something; I had pretty good coordination when I was young. Basketball was something I was pretty good at early. Just like anything else, you do what you are good at. That is what you enjoy doing. I guess that is why I stuck to basketball.

What is it like to play in Cole Field House? What is it like to play in a packed Cole Field House?

It's a thrill. Very few coaches ever get the opportunity to go back to their school and coach, especially when you are in a great conference. When I was playing here in the 60's, there was no way I ever thought I'd be back here as the Head Basketball Coach. That seemed pretty remote especially when my first job was as the J.V. Coach at Woodrow Wilson High School in Camden, NJ. I didn't see Cole Field House from there.

What is it like to coach in the ACC Tournament ?

Back when I played, and today, the feeling you get from the ACC tournament is incredible. When I played, only one team from the ACC would go to the NCAA Tournament because there were only 16 teams in the tournament. That was the winner of the ACC Tournament, not the regular season champion. So, you can imagine the pressure. There were all sorts of weird things back then. There were slowdown games - I can remember one game where the score was 12-10 between N.C. State and Carolina. You saw that all the time - teams would try anything. They would come out in a different defense than they had played all year. Its' a great show and a great spectacle now, but you can imagine if you were playing for one berth into the NCAA Tournament. One year, Duke was ranked No. 2 in the country and Carolina was ranked fourth. One of those teams went home. That's just the way it was back then, and nobody thought it was unusual.

When did you decide to become a coach?

I always thought that I would like to coach. When I played, I had a pretty good feel for the game. I always knew when we ran our offense where everybody should be on the court. Defensively, I always had a feel for who was guarding who, the match-ups. When we had a substitution, I could always tell that guy who to pick up. I also watched other coaches. When I was playing, we played against Vic Bubas, who was a legend at Duke, and Press Maravich, who was a great coach at N.C. State before he coached his son at LSU. Dean Smith started at North Carolina, and during my time here in the 1960's, he made the transition from being a young coach in to having some great teams. You got a chance to see those coaches and play against them. It gave you ideas on what you might like to do as a coach. By about my junior year at Maryland, I wanted to coach. There was no way, at that time that I wanted to commit to a career of coaching, but I did want to give it a try before I did anything else.

How did you develop your coaching philosophy?

By playing against Duke, for example. They came with pressure defense. Not many teams were doing it then — maybe UCLA with John Wooden and St. Joe's with Jack Ramsey. But very few schools pressed. Most schools thought the game should be played in a half court situation. But Duke had quick guards and they kept their substitution going in the back court. I saw how that wore you down as the game went on. It was not that they could get the ball all the time, it's just that all of the sudden in the second half you commit a turnover because you are tired mentally and physically. I always thought that was the way the game should be played, the 94 foot type of game instead of a 47 foot game. I always have tried to play that way. I have always enjoyed playing that way. Our young players are really quick now and they want to play that way. I think we have eight or nine players who can get up and down pretty good this year and you have to use all of those players if you want to play that way - that is a big part of it.

What other coaches influenced you most?

When I was a player I knew by about my sophomore year that I wasn't good enough to play in the pros. Back then, there were only 10-12 pro teams and no ABA, no CBA . There was an old Eastern League. If I had made one of those Eastern League teams, I wouldn't have received a graduate assistantship here. In 1968, I was able to be a freshman coach here while I finished my degree. Tom Davis was an assistant coach on the staff and three years later became the head coach at Lafayette College. He hired me there to be his assistant. It was a good job. There was only one full-time assistant and that was me. To take that job I had to coach the soccer team and also be the assistant basketball coach. It was hard because it took away from the basketball part of it. I didn't have the identity as a basketball person that I wanted but the jobs got me into college coaching. I probably would not have gotten into college coaching if it were not for Tom Davis. He was a big believer in pressing defense, especially zone pressure. That had a big influence on me because I was with him for six years at Lafayette and one as an assistant at Boston College. He is a great teacher and he has been very successful wherever he has been.

As a player, who did you emulate?

Probably Bob Cousy, the guard with the Boston Celtics. There was one basketball game on television a week back then, and the Celtics were good, so they would be on all the time. Cousy was a great ball handler and one of the guys to get fancy early — behind the back stuff. Red Auerbach was the coach, he let Cousy do his thing. Just watching him gave me an open mind toward the game. I didn't know how, but I knew that the game would always change. When I was in college, we were playing Wake Forest on a Saturday. We got down there and practiced Friday afternoon. That night North Carolina A&T was playing. And remember the ACC was still segregated for the most part, so all of the good Black players really had no place to go except for the southern leagues. I went to the game and saw Earl Monroe play. He later played for the Bullets and for the Championship teams for the Knicks in the 1970s. This guy came down court and did things that I never saw. He had the spin moves and the hesitation with the jump shot, the lay-up where you flip the ball up and make the defensive player goaltend. He became my favorite player because he got a quick 54 points that night. Once you think that you have the right way to play, then you are limited to what you can do in basketball. There are always new things in the game, there are going to be new things forever. The influence of the Black players when they got the opportunity to play in the major conferences was incredible because it showed that there is more than one way to get it done. If you could throw a really good two-handed chest pass a coach would really like you. But there are ways to flick a pass that can get it there just a little quicker, and be a little more deceiving to the defense. It took a long time for coaches to accept that because it was a big change. I know that there are things out there that I will have to make adjustments to as I go along.

Do you see yourself staying at the college level and what do you like most about coaching college basketball?

I see myself staying at the college level here. I left a good situation at Ohio State and made a commitment to come here. As long as they want me here, I am committed to getting it done. I wear two hats — I am the basketball coach and I am also a graduate of the school. This school has never realized its basketball potential. Cole Field House, the College Park campus, the academic situation: we should be a great college basketball program. We have had great years in the past, but we have never been consistently great. What that takes is continuity. We need to concentrate on the people we bring into the program. We need student-athletes who really want to give back to the University. We now have alumni games and receptions where we have invited players back to make them feel a part of things here. It takes time. But we work hard at alumni relations

Is selling the University across the state important to you?

I saw what it meant at Ohio State. When a basketball player grows up in the state of Ohio, he will at least look at Ohio State. You might not get every player but Ohio State will be one of his schools. Here that is not necessarily true, yet. Keith Booth coming here certainly helps us in the Baltimore area. The Eastern Shore has players. Western Maryland has players. If you have a shot at the best players coming out of Baltimore, then you are going to have a shot at the best players in the state. We are the state school; we are the flagship school in the state of Maryland. That state wide allegiance is coming.

What is your biggest basketball moment?

There have been a couple. Winning the state championship and going undefeated as a high school coach. Also, tying for the Big East Championship while I was at Boston College in 1982 and going to the Final 16 twice. During my first year at Ohio State, we beat Kentucky in the NCAA Tournament — that was big. I think my biggest moment is still to come — I want it to be here.

If you could do anything in basketball today to make the game better, what would you do?

I think the college game is a great game. What I would do, and this would probably not be very popular, would be to do away with dunking. I think the dunk has hurt players' development. For example, I always felt that one of the reasons Kareem Abdul Jabbar played so long and was such a great player in the pros, was that during his college days, they passed a rule that you could not dunk. That forced him to learn how to shoot the ball. He had to learn the sky hook and the jump shot. Players don't have that today. The hook shot has almost disappeared, except for the jump hook. The dunk has become so fashionable and so much in demand. Coaches want your players to take the ball hard to the basket and dunk it because you get fouled and it is a very high percentage shot. But it has allowed offensive players not to have to develop a touch on the basketball. To learn how to put a touch on the ball is a skill. But if you can dunk, you can just fire it down as hard as you can. Banning the dunk would help the defense, but that is not going to happen because the crowd really likes the dunk and it is an exciting play. A ban would really add to the skill of the game.

Do you consider yourself a basketball purist?

I like the game to be played a certain way, but I am also enough of a realist to know that if you have a great player, you have to get him the ball in situations where he can score. I have been fortunate enough to have coached great players. Walt Williams or Dennis Hopson at Ohio State who was the third pick in the NBA draft and Michael Adams at Boston College. If you could get them the ball in the right situation, they were going to do as well as if you made eight great passes, or ran a perfect offense. You just had to get them the ball. Part of being a coach, I feel, is that you don't hurt a player individually as you get the team to play really well together.

How do you approach basketball and how to you approach golf, your other favorite sport?

Golf is really a mind game. You have to be focused on golf. A lot of times I am playing golf I am not really focused on golf and I am probably thinking about basketball. I will never be a great golfer because of my personality, I just don't have the patience. I admire people who have that type of patience. I enjoy the competition. As you get older its one of those sports you can compete in without having to be in great shape. Its a great way to relax. I really enjoy playing golf with friends. It's fun to play other coaches. I play over the summer with

P.J. Carlissimo (Portland Trailblazers), Jim Boeheim (Syracuse), Dave Gavitt (Boston Celtics) and Mike Trangese (the Commissioner of the Big East.) That's always fun. You have to be tough to play that game.

After a game, you are drained. What kind of a feeling is that?

I hope that I am drained after a game. You don't want to leave anything on the floor whether you are a player or a coach. It doesn't do you any good in the locker room after a game. I try to leave it all out there on the court.

How long does it take you to unwind after a game?

That is the toughest part for me as a coach. I usually don't sleep much the night after a game. The night before a game I don't have any problem because you feel you have done everything you can to get ready. I start getting nervous on game day in the afternoon. There has never been a game, whether it be as a J.V. high school coach or versus North Carolina when they are No. 1, that you don't get nervous. If you can't be nervous before a game than you should get out because it doesn't mean enough to you.

BILLY HAHN

6th Year Assistant For Gary Williams

Billy Hahn, one of the premier recruiters in all of college basketball, is in his sixth season as an assistant coach at the University of Maryland. While Hahn has enjoyed tremendous recruiting success throughout his coaching career, he has been particularly successful during his tenure at Maryland. The Terps' three most recent recruiting classes have been ranked among the nation's best.

In addition to his extensive recruiting responsibilities, Hahn is involved in all phases of the Maryland basketball program. His responsibilities include floor coaching, the scouting of opponents and film preparation. His on the floor duties including working with Maryland's guards and the shooting instruction of each player. He can routinely be found on the court with Maryland's players before practice begins and after it has ended.

Hahn became a member of the Maryland coaching staff in July of 1989, immediately after Gary Williams became the Terps' head coach.

Prior to joining the Terps' staff, Hahn was the head coach at Ohio University for three years. He compiled a 42-45 record while always fielding competitive teams. He led Ohio to the Mid-American Conference Tournament Championship game in 1988. He recruited and coached Paul Graham, the MAC Player of the Year in 1989. During his head coaching tenure, 100 percent of his senior players earned their degrees.

Prior to his appointment as head coach, Hahn was an assistant coach at Ohio for six seasons under Danny Nee. He served as the Bobcats' primary recruiter during that span and landed the school's all-time leading rebounder and the all-time leading assist holder. Hahn recruited and coached two future NBA draft choices and the 1985 MAC Player of the Year. While Hahn was an assistant, Ohio posted a school record four 20 win seasons, won two conference tournament championships, earned two trips to the NCAA Tournament and played in one NIT.

Hahn began his college coaching career immediately following his playing days at Maryland. His first stop came at Morris Harvey College in West Virginia (1975-76). He moved on to Davidson College (1976-77) and the University of Rhode Island (1977-80) before going to Ohio. At each of his first three coaching stops, he successfully recruited and coached future NBA draft choices. While at Rhode Island, he recruited future New York Knicks star Sly Williams and four other NBA selections.

Hahn is a 1975 alumnus of the University of Maryland. While an undergraduate here, he was a three-year varsity letter winner on three of the best basketball teams Maryland has ever fielded. He was a freshman in 1971-72 when the Terps won the National Invitation Tournament. He was a key reserve on the team that lost what is considered to be the greatest game in ACC history - Maryland's 103-100 overtime loss to N.C. State in 1974 - and was captain of the team his senior year when the Terps won the ACC regular season championship and advanced to the Midwest Regional Finals of the NCAA Tournament.

He earned the Alvin Aubinoe Award for "Greatest Career Contribution" following his senior season. Maryland fashioned a 70-19 overall record during his playing career. The Terps finished with a 24-5 record as it won the ACC regular season championship his senior season.

Hahn has become a very accomplished seminar and banquet speaker. He has delivered numerous motivational speeches to area businesses and at many graduations.

Hahn received his bachelor's degree in distributive education in 1975.

ART PERRY

5th Year Assistant For Gary Williams

Art Perry, one of the top recruiters in the nation, is in his fifth season at Maryland. His extensive recruiting roots produced an early knowledge of Joe Smith, which allowed for an early evaluation of the superstar by Head Coach Gary Williams. Smith earned honorable mention All-America honors and was the consensus national freshman of the year in 1994.

Perry has worked tirelessly since his arrival in 1990 to bring the top talent to Maryland. His efforts have been rewarded as the Terps have landed three of the top recruiting classes in the country during his tenure. A number of his prized recruiting efforts were major players as Maryland advanced to the Sweet 16 of the 1994 NCAA Tournament.

Aside from his on and off-campus recruiting efforts, Perry serves as one of the Terps' chief opponent scouts. He is also actively involved in the preparation of daily practice plans and all aspects of on-court coaching.

More than 20 of the student athletes Perry has recruited have been drafted into the pros and many of them have enjoyed prosperous careers. Early in his coaching career, Perry recruited future NBA stars James Bailey and Ed Jordan to Rutgers University. Both Bailey and Jordan helped lead the Scarlet Knights to the NCAA Final Four in 1976. Jordan went on to win an NBA Championship with the Los Angeles Lakers in 198X. Perry continued his successful recruiting abilities at RU by landing Roy Hinson and John Battle who both went on to excel in the NBA. While at Old Dominion, Perry recruited Chris Gatling, a two-time Sun Belt Conference Player of the Year and NBA first round draft choice of the Golden State Warriors.

Perry, a Washington, D.C. native, lettered in three sports (basketball, football and track) at Eastern High School. During his career, the Ramblers won city championships in basketball and football.

Following a four-year term in the Air Force as a crew chief for jet fighters and four-time selection to the All-Air Force basketball team, Perry returned to the Washington, D.C. area and enrolled at American University. He was a two-year varsity letter winner who averaged 8.5 points and 8.8 rebounds during his short career. His career was cut short by a knee injury just prior to the beginning of his senior season. While at American, he was a teammate of future NBA star Kermit Washington.

Perry quickly began his college coaching career as he joined Tom Young's staff at Rutgers as a student assistant for the 1973-74 season. He was a member of Young's staff that directed Rutgers to the NCAA Tournament and the NIT twice each. He was also a member of the 1976 Rutgers' staff that helped coach the Scarlet Knights to a 31-0 regular season record and into the NCAA "Final Four." Following a brief two-year stay at Connecticut, he returned to Rutgers where he helped coach two more NCAA Tournament teams and one that played in the NIT.

In 1985, he moved with Young to Old Dominion University where he helped direct the Monarchs to the NCAA Tournament in only his first season. The team also played in the 1988 NIT.

It was from Rutgers in 1975 that he received his bachelor's degree in health, physical education and recreation.

Perry was married last August 14 to the former Kym Hurley

JIMMY PATSOS

Assistant Coach, Fourth Year at Maryland

Jimmy Patsos is in his fourth year as an assistant coach at the University of Maryland. He joined the Maryland staff in 1991 and has helped guide the Terps back to the upper echelon of the college basketball world.

Patsos is involved in all phases of the program. He plays an instrumental role in academic development and opponent scouting. He has developed an excellent rapport with the student athletes, both on and off the basketball court. He also exhibits a fine knowledge of the game and its fundamentals.

Patsos joined the staff as a volunteer assistant during the 1991-92 season. During his first season, he was exposed to the coaching and administration side of college basketball, which allowed him to gain a greater understanding of the game. His work ethic and relationship with the Terps players allowed him to gain a full-time spot on the staff for the 1992-93 season.

Prior to his appointment to Gary Williams's staff at Maryland, Patsos was the assistant coach at Archbishop Carroll High School in Washington, D.C. He helped Carroll to a 21-8 record and a national ranking of No. 6 during his first season. The team lost to the famed DeMatha Catholic High School in the city playoffs to end their stellar season. Patsos was involved in the maturation of Charles Harrison (Wake Forest) and Lawrence Moten (Syracuse), both who have become stars on the collegiate level.

A native of Boston, Mass., Patsos played three years of varsity basketball at Catholic University in Washington, D.C. He served as team captain his senior season. He earned his bachelor's degree in History from Catholic in 1989.

Among Sauer's duties for the Terps are facilities coordination, game management and the planning of all of the team's travel. He also assists in the organization and planning of the highly successful Gary Williams Basketball Camp.

In addition, Sauer is responsible for all aspects of the men's basketball budget. He handles all housing and dining service contracts as well as a host of other duties.

The school set single game and season attendance records during the 1988-89 season.

Sauer served as a consultant for the Bermuda Basketball Association this past summer. He assisted the association in the improvement of all aspects of their program.

STRENGTH AND CONDITIONING

The physical preparation of a student/athlete to compete in basketball has developed into a critical component of the program. Emphasis is put into the field of strength and conditioning at the University of Maryland to enhance performance as well as prevent injuries. Strength coaches Dwight Galt, Mike Gerber and Evan Marcus employ a program that is geared towards maximizing athletic development. The Strength and Conditioning staff makes every attempt to accommodate the different training needs of each individual athlete.

The Maryland basketball team works on a structured weight training program throughout the year. The goals of the weight program are not only to increase strength and prevent injuries, but also to develop explosive power.

The Terp basketball players are fortunate to train in one of the premier weight training facilities in the country. The Maryland Weight Room features 7,200 square feet of space that holds advanced training equipment which caters to the needs of basketball. A main component in this facility is the free weight equipment, including ten mammoth power racks, Olympic platforms, and 11 tons of free weights. State-of-the-art electrolyzed and plate loaded equipment further give the student/athlete the chance to better themselves.

On Lucas: The Terps' sixth man who enjoyed his finest season while playing in all 30 games last season...Enjoyed his finest career game versus Massachusetts in the second round of the NCAA Tournament leading the Terps to the fantastic upset and into the "Sweet 16"...Lucas scored 10 points in the second half to lead the Terps to the come from behind victory...Toured Brazil as a member of the ACC All-Star team during the summer of 1994...A very versatile player who is an excellent rebounder and possesses good range on his jumpshot ....Changed his game following his freshman season, deciding to play underneath the boards and bang with the front court players...That change in his game hastened his development...As a Sophomore: Was as bright a star as the Terps had in any single game in 1994 versus Massachusetts in the NCAA Tournament...Came off the bench to replace Keith Booth, who was charged with his fourth foul late in the first half, and helped lead Maryland to the 95-87 victory...After going scoreless in the first half, Lucas started the second and set forth to play an incredible 20 minutes of basketball...Lucas got himself going with 16:35 remaining in the game as he hit a three point shot to draw Maryland within seven at 54-47...Lucas's three-pointer stemmed the tide and allowed Maryland to sway the momentum its way...Two minutes later he hit a turnaround jumper to pull Maryland within two at 57-55...Lucas added three free throws and a lay-up as the clock ticked down and Maryland took the victory, one that will be remembered as being among the top victories in the history of Maryland Basketball...Scored a career high 16 points to lead Maryland past N.C. State in Cole Field House in his most productive game as a Terp...Also tied his season high of seven rebounds and two assists in only 14 minutes of play versus the Wolfpack...Came off the bench to scored 14 points in only 21 minutes of play versus Hofstra in the first round of the Hall of Fame Classic in Springfield, Mass...Double figures in ACC play came on the road versus Virginia (10 points) and in Cole Field House versus Wake Forest (10)...He finished as one of Maryland's most effective rebounders with 107 rebounds in 481 total minutes of play...Enjoyed a great season as he played in more games, played more minutes, scored more points, grabbed more rebounds, dished off more assists and blocked more shots than he did all of his entire freshman season...Was one of five Terps to finish with 100 or more rebounds...Saw his minutes increase from 12 his freshman year to 16 as a sophomore...With the increased minutes came increased points (5.4 as a sophomore as compared to 3.5 as a freshman) and rebounds (3.6 as a sophomore as compared to 2.3 as a freshman)...With Lucas in the game as a sophomore, Maryland was a strong team...When Lucas scored at least 10 points, Maryland was 4-1 with its only loss coming to No. 2 Duke and when he played at least 20 minutes, Maryland had a 6-3 record...Averaged 8.2 points in seven games played as a member of the ACC All-Star team...Scored a personal best 13 points vs. Uruguay on five of 11 shooting from the field and grabbed five rebounds in that game...As a Freshman: Played in 23 games, starting two consecutive ACC games (Florida State and at Wake Forest on consecutive dates)...Averaged 3.5 points and 2.3 rebounds a game...Began the season on fire as he hit five of six shots from the field to score 11 points versus West Virginia...Closed the regular season on fire as he scored nine points and grabbed a career high 10 rebounds versus Virginia...Another outstanding effort came versus North Carolina in Cole Field House as he scored 10 points and grabbed three rebounds in 25 minutes of play...Was four of six from the field versus Towson State, including three straight baskets late in the first half to jump-start the Terps' offense...His play improved as evidenced by his minutes played late in the year...He averaged 12 minutes a game throughout the season but over the last eight games he averaged 18 minutes a game and played at least 21 minutes in four of the final eight games of the year...At Fairley: Was an Honorable Mention McDonald's All-American...Was a first team All-City selection and earned honorable mention All-State honors following his senior season...Averaged 14 points, 10 rebounds, 3.5 blocks and shot 48 percent from the field as a senior...Led Fairley to an unprecedented three consecutive city championships...While a member of the Fairley varsity, the team complied a won-loss record of 83-18...As a senior, he led Fairley to a 25-8 record and to city and district championships...As a junior, he averaged 12 points and 10 rebounds...Played with Corey Beck, Dwight Stewart and Elmer Martin, all members of Arkansas 1994 NCAA National Championship team, at Fairley...His high school coach was Sylvester Ford...Personal: Born March 3, 1974...His full name is Mario Deshun Lucas...He is majoring in education.

TOUR DE TERP

The Terrapins Travel Abroad

A Lesson in French and Friendship

For nine days in August (20-28), the Maryland Basketball team visited France for a tour filled with hoops, sightseeing and team camaraderie.

The team traveled to France, not only to play more experienced players and to get a head start on the 1995 season, but also for the players to broaden their personal perspectives. For most of the players, it was their first foreign travel experience.

"It was a very positive experience," said Head Coach Gary Williams. "It gave us a chance to see France. It was a great opportunity for the players at their age to see a different country and compare it with what they have here, in the United States. I think all of the players gained a lot."

The trip began in Paris, where the players were treated to a European breakfast and a bus tour of the city, including the Eiffel Tower. From there, the team traveled to and spent most of their time in two cities: Perpignan, near the French-Spanish border, and Aix-en-Provence, in the mountainous region near Italy.

There was a stop in Monte Carlo for games at the same arena where Dream Team I practiced two years ago. There was a visit to a restaurant in Southern France where original Picassos hung on the wall. And there was a team picture in Paris at the Cathedral of Notre Dame and a tour of the Champs Elysees, the avenue where allied soldiers marched triumphantly home following World War II.

"It was a great way to get closer as a team," said Williams. You're over there and there are not a lot of people who speak English. It's not your usual routine. It also is not as easy to get around and that brings you together as a team."

In addition to the sightseeing, the team played six games. The Terps met teams from Montpellier, Toulouse, LeVallois and Antibes, and a Spanish team from Gironde. The competition was strong and all of the Terps' opponents were French Division I teams which can feature two Americans each on their rosters. Many of the Americans playing in France have NBA experience. David Rivers, the former guard from Notre Dame University and the Los Angeles Lakers, was the starting point guard for the final stop on the Terp tour.

"It gave me a chance to see another part of the world," said All-America center Joe Smith. "I had never been to France and it was a great experience for myself and the entire team."

Smith was among the Terps leading scorers as he averaged nearly 27 points per game. Junior guard Johnny Rhodes also played well, averaging 25 points, while junior forward Mario Lucas drew praise for his physical defense.

As a member of the NCAA, the Terps are allowed to take a trip such as this once every four years. The team was allowed to practice prior to the trip, which gave Williams an opportunity to experiment for the 1995 season.

"We did a couple of different things," said Williams. "We changed our fast break just for the trip; just to see how we could loosen it up. We wanted to see what Keith and Exree could do with the ball out on the break."

The results?

"The entire team did fine, " Williams said. "In running the break differently, the players will see a lot more ways to score coming down the court. In this type of a situation, the coaches wanted to see if it is worth it to take a higher-risk break than we ran last year."

The Terps won three of the four games against their Division I opponents and lost two exhibition games.

"The trip was a once in a lifetime experience for the members of the team" said Williams.

NEW FACILITY

Locker Room Comes of Age

New Locker Room Facility Becomes Home

Maryland's new and expanded locker room facility has arrived in conjunction with the revitalization of the entire Terrapin basketball program. Between the 1994 and 1995 basketball seasons, a $550,000 facility was constructed in the northwest corner of Cole Field House. Its' arrival gives Maryland one of the top locker room facilities anywhere.

The 550 square foot facility combines an aesthetically pleasing design with a simple, yet functional floor plan. The blueprint followed the strategy of a Gary Williams coached team - concise preparation, attention to detail, and effective execution.

The layout allows for easy access to the player's and coaches locker rooms, meeting rooms, a state-of-the-art training facility, weight room and media work area. The locker room areas for both the players and the coaches have more than doubled in size and are more functional than ever before. Each player has his own double locker with room for team gear and personal items.

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR

A New Future at Maryland

Deborah A. Yow, whose tenure as Athletic Director at Saint Louis University was marked by a commitment to excellence in academics as well as athletics for the university's student athletes, was named August 15, 1994 to direct the athletic program at the University of Maryland by President William E. Kirwan.

At Saint Louis University, Yow led the effort which enabled the university to achieve a 92% graduation rate for its student athletes. This rate placed Saint Louis 10th among the 300 Division I institutions in percent of student athlete graduations. Yow also brings to her new position an impressive record of athletic success, both as an athletic director and as a basketball coach.

Under Yow's leadership, the Saint Louis University men's basketball program was revitalized. Last year, the team returned to the NCAA Championship for the first time in 37 years. And, the men's soccer team was a regular contender for the national championship.

Noted for enormous energy, Yow has increased significantly the marketing, promotion and corporate sponsorship of Saint Louis University's athletic programs. This year, the Billikens ranked second only to the Razorbacks of Arkansas among all NCAA schools in percentage increase of men's basketball attendance. Yow recently completed negotiations for the men's teams to play their home games at the new Kiel Center - a 21,000 seat basketball and sports complex in Saint Louis.

Prior to becoming an athletic director, Yow had a highly successful career as a women's basketball coach. She was the first coach in NCAA history to lead previously unranked women's teams at three different NCAA Division I schools to top 20 rankings.

Yow has held positions of increasing importance within the NCAA. Currently, she serves as a member of the NCAA Council, the primary governance-body for the NCAA; the Division I Steering Committee; and she chairs the NCAA's Award of Merit Committee. Yow is also a member of the Executive Committee of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics.

In commenting on the appointment, President Kirwan said, "We are very fortunate to have attracted Debbie Yow to this position. She has all the qualities we were looking for — commitment to the highest standards of academic and athletic performance, a proven record in the promotion of intercollegiate athletics, boundless energy, strong management skills, and a position of national leadership on the important issues facing athletics: reform, cost containment, and gender equity."

Yow, 42, becomes the first woman athletic director in the Atlantic Coast Conference. She has been an athletic administrator for 11 years and the Director of Athletics at Saint Louis University since 1990. A 1974 graduate of Elon College with a B.A. in English, she began her coaching career at Burlington and Eastern Guilford High Schools in North Carolina. She went to the University of Kentucky in 1976 as the head women's basketball coach, leaving the institution in 1981 to become the head coach at Oral Roberts University. In 1983, she was appointed head coach of women's basketball at the University of Florida. She assumed the position of assistant director of the University of Florida Gator Boosters, Inc. in 1983. From 1987 to 1990, she served as associate athletic director at the University of North Carolina, Greensboro.

Yow earned her bachelor of arts degree in English from Elon College in North Carolina, a masters degree in counseling from Liberty University and a Ph.D. from Baptist Christian University.

The Gibsonville, North Carolina native is married to Dr. William W. Bowden.

All for as little as $100.00 per year and up to $5,000 annually.

And you don't have to be an alumnus of the University of Maryland to join. Just have the desire to show your outstanding support for the Terrapins. So become one of the faithful now by sending in the coupon at the left and we'll send you all the membership information you'll need to join. And you'll learn how as a member of The Terrapin Club and The Maryland Educational Foundation, you can keep the faith with the Terrapins.

COLE FIELD HOUSE

When college basketball was achieving its most expansive growth-from the late 1950's to the 1970's - there was one gymnasium on the East Coast that sat as many as 12,000 fans. Cole Field House epitomized the new big time, main event status of college basketball, the sport of network television and the emerging legends. It stands today as a building that faces cosmetic renewal over the next several years, but Cole's charm and charisma will not be tampered with. There was not a bad seat on Dec. 2, 1955 when it was dedicated in a game against Virginia, and there is not a better place to watch a game today. Only in a building like Cole, where history has routinely been made, can one feel the echo of tradition, and experience, even in an empty Cole, the electricity generated by buzzer beaters and a thousand slam dunks.

Cole was dedicated as the Student Activities Center, a $3.3 million project that was erected under the tutelage of Board of Regents Chair, Judge William P. Cole Jr., and President Wilson Elkins. A year after the dedication, the building was named in honor of Cole, who served the Board of Regents for 25 years.

Although Cole has remained the same basketball hall it was built to be, there have been refinements. Scoreboards were installed that not only tell the fan what the score is, but also how loud they are cheering. A new floor design was added in 1991. Cole's seating base grew from its original base, and 14,500 fans can now root for the Red and White at any game.

Cole Field House has undergone numerous improvements since 1992. The concourse has been painted; both 1994–Maryland defeats Virginia on March 5, 70-68, in front of a sold-out crowd. Duane Simpkins is perfect from the free throw line (11-11) and Joe Smith scores 20 points and had 11 rebounds. The win clinches a fourth place tie in the ACC regular season standings and virtually assures the Terps of an NCAA Tournament bid.

east and west sides of the arena have been upgraded; the academic support and development suites were renovated; a sound system installed and the concession facilities improved. An exciting array of 29 banners proclaiming Terrapin basketball success hang from the upper reaches of the arena.

The men's basketball locker room was refurbished and opened to start the 1994-95 season. New for the men's team this season are refurbished and enlarged locker rooms for both the players and coaches, a state-of the-art medical facility, a team meeting room and lounge and an improved media work and interview room.

Cole's main lobby has been refurbished for the beginning of the season, also. The look of Cole will be enhanced by displays for the Maryland Hall of Fame and all-time Terp All-Americans; trophy cases for basketball; large murals of Cole itself and of the Terps players in action. Also new to the lobby is a bronze statue of Testudo.

Future plans include improving the women's basketball locker room and construction of facility for the volleyball team.

As championships have been awarded over the years, Cole has been home to some of the best. The 1966 and 1970 NCAA Men's Basketball Final Fours were held here. In 1990, the first and second rounds of the Eastern Regional were held here. The NCAA Wrestling Championships were held here in 1960, 1972, 1978, 1987 and 1990 and the NCAA Women's Volleyball Championship took place here in 1990.

Cole Field House is home to most of the athletic department offices, and yearly hosts thousands who visit just to see where so much basketball history has been made.

THE UNIVERSITY

Dr. William E. Kirwan, University President

After more than 25 years of service as a professor and administrator at the University, Dr. William E. Kirwan was appointed president of the University of Maryland at College Park on February 1, 1989. He served as acting president of the university from August 1, 1988, until the time of his appointment as president.

Dr. Kirwan joined the university in 1964 as an assistant professor of mathematics. He rose through the faculty ranks as associate professor (1968-72), professor (1972-present), and the chair of the Department of Mathematics (1977-81).

In 1981, he was appointed vice chancellor for academic affairs, College Park's chief academic post. As Vice Chancellor, Dr. Kirwan raised admission standards, increased the number of merit scholarships, and graduate fellowships, and established an academic planning process.

During his tenure as President, the University has played a pivotal role in all of the university's most significant initiatives such as: increasing emphasis on undergraduate education; raising admission standards while reducing undergraduate enrollment; increasing the number of merit scholarships and graduate fellowships. recruiting and retaining outstanding faculty; and exceeding the desegregation goals for the enrollment of black undergraduate students.

Dr. Kirwan is known for his ability to see beyond the institution's day-to-day problems, and for his talent as a consensus builder among the large and diverse campus community. Under his leadership, the university undertook a major restructuring of its academic organization, going from a divisional system to a more traditional system of colleges and schools. Subsequently, when the state's economic decline forced a reduction of this university's budget, he oversaw the streamlining of the university's academic offerings through the elimination of a college and 32 degree programs.

Dr. Kirwan is a member of numerous honorary and professional societies, including Phi Beta Kappa, the American Mathematical Society, and the Mathematical Association of America. Recently, he was inducted into the Order of King Leopold II by the Belgian government and into the University of Kentucky Hall of Distinguished Alumni. Dr. Kirwan is the co-editor of the book Advances in Complex Analysis, and the author of many published articles on mathematical research. He served as the editor of the Proceedings of the American Mathematical Society from 1977 to 1985. He chaired the mathematical Sciences in the Year 2000 Committee, a task force created by the National Research Council (NRC) to improve mathematics education at the nation's colleges and universities during the next decade and currently serves on the NRC's Committee on Science Literacy.

Recently he was appointed to serve on the Board of Directors of the Council for International Exchange of Scholars, the body that oversees the Fulbright Exchange program. Among other board positions, Dr. Kirwan serves as a member of the Board of Directors of the World Trade Center Institute, the Baltimore Council on Foreign Affairs, and the Greater Washington Board of Trade. He also serves on the American Council on Education's Commission on Women in Higher Education, and chairs the Prince George's County Board of Education's Citizen's Advisory Committee.

Born in Louisville, Kentucky, on April 14, 1938, Dr. Kirwan received a bachelor's' degree in mathematics from the University of Kentucky in 1960. He holds a master's (1962) and Ph.D. (1964) degrees in mathematics from Rutgers University.

Dr. Kirwan and his wife, Patricia, have a son who received his bachelor's and master's degrees in architecture from the College Park campus, and a daughter who received her bachelor's degree in journalism from the university.

THE UNIVERSITY AT COLLEGE PARK

The University of Maryland at College Park serves as the state's primary center for graduate study and research, provides undergraduate instruction across a broad spectrum of academic disciplines and extends its vast intellectual resources to the community through innovative projects designed to serve individuals, governments and the private sector throughout the state of Maryland, the nation and the world.

Today's comprehensive public research university for the state of Maryland had its origin in 1859 as the Maryland Agricultural College, the third such state institution in the world. It became one of the nation's original land-grant institutions in 1862. The state assumed authority in 1920, joining College park with the professional schools in Baltimore to form an expanded University of Maryland.

With students and faculty drawn to Maryland from all 50 states and 110 countries, College Park is home to a rich mix of social, intellectual and cultural perspectives.

Among public research universities in the Association of American Universities, College Park ranks first in percentage of African American undergraduate students. Also, the university has the largest number of African American and other minority faculty members among its peers. Such facts, illustrate College Park's progress toward becoming a national model of diversity.

Rated as one of the 20 top-funded universities by the National Science Foundation, College Park is a national center of innovative scientific and engineering research. Such programs as the Engineering Research Center, the Institute for Systems Research and the Center for Global Change conduct ground-breaking studies on topics including global warming, robotics and sea-level rise.

Engineering's Glenn L. Martin Wind Tunnel is the most advanced aerodynamic testing facility of its kind on any university campus. In the wind tunnel, researchers perform airflow tests on state-of-the-art designs for such products as automobiles, aircraft wings, telephone cables, signs and power lines. Another one-of-kind is the Neutral Buoyancy Facility which resembles weightlessness for space research.

Recalling its founding as a land grant institution, 1994 marked the opening of the new Center for Agricultural Biotechnology, reflecting the College of Agriculture's new philosophy of sustainable agriculture.

Close to home, College Park faculty and staff provide technical assistance to state and local governmental bodies and education systems, outreach programs in support of technology transfer and in-service or continuing education programs in areas such as computer science, engineering, business, journalism and education.

The University's efforts go far behind the state's boundaries in developing economic opportunities and partnerships abroad for Maryland businesses and industries. And, a $16 million, three-year contract from the USAID to the university's Center for Institutional Reform and the Informal Sector (IRIS) is funding a project aimed at helping the leaders in the former Soviet Union establish a market economy.

Recognizing the importance of the Far East, the university's strengthening relationships with mainland China, Japan and Taiwan are forging new research, business and cultural ties to promote greater exchange of students and scholars.

From athletics to aesthetics, talent takes many forms at the University of Maryland at College Park. The university presents hundreds of cultural events annually. The campus is also home to the Summer Institute for the Creative and Performing Arts, known as the Rossborough Festival, which sponsors nationally and internationally recognized programs including the National Orchestral Institute and the International William Kapell Piano Competition.

Campus neighbors include such important national resources as the Library of Congress, the Smithsonian Institution, the National Institutes of Health, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) and the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Research Center.

Close by is Maryland's historic state capital, Annapolis, also known as the sailing and seafood capital of the nation, a tribute to its Chesapeake Bay setting. The nearby Chesapeake Bay offers not only recreational diversions but the opportunity to study and conduct research aimed at sustaining the nation's largest estuarine system.

The MARC train offers public transportation from College Park to Baltimore's Camden Station, next door to where the Orioles play baseball in the heart of the historic city. And the highly efficient Metro system, with a new station at the campus doorstep, makes navigating the greater Washington, D.C. area easy.

Add all the accolades and, still, only a partial picture emerges because the University of Maryland at College Park is far more than the sum of its parts. One thing is clear, however, with a student body increasing yearly in both quality and diversity, private support growing at a phenomenal rate and multifaceted research programs attracting record funding. Maryland's flagship institution ranks as a national resource.

History of College Park

Just after the American Revolution, the state of Maryland established its first two colleges at Chestertown and Annapolis. By the 1850s, at least 30 little colleges had sprung-up over the state, many with state support, but many of them disappearing within a few years. Then in 1859, a different kind of institution appeared at College Park—the Maryland Agricultural College—the third such college in the world, created mainly for farmers' sons.The college was established by Charles Benedict Calvert, a wealthy planter from nearby Riversdale—now Riverdale—and later a congressman. Calvert built a handsome Gothic dormitory-classroom structure located in a grove of trees near the present Morrill Hall, and he divided the land down the Baltimore-Washington Turnpike into small plots where each of the 50-or-so students experimented with a different crop. After the Civil War, the institution became a land-grant college, with small appropriations from Washington. The little college began to grow about 1900 when agricultural experiments began to bring prosperity to Maryland, and when the college expanded its offerings into engineering, business and the liberal arts. In 1912, the old Gothic building burned, and the state provided modern structures. Women were admitted to the campus, and graduate work began. In 1920, the college combined with the long established professional schools of Baltimore and changed its name to the University of Maryland. Growth accelerated after 1935 when the politically astute football coach, H.C. "Curley" Byrd, became president, added scores of new programs, and won national football championships. In the 1950s and 1960s, President Wilson H. Elkins maintained the rapid growth, and College Park became one of the largest campuses in the nation. President Elkins, a Rhodes Scholar, transformed the institution's public image to one of high academic integrity. In the 1970s and 1980s, the University's graduate and research programs flourished. In 1988, the General Assembly of Maryland combined six state colleges with the five campuses of the University of Maryland, and specifically charged College Park with the role of leadership in the revamped system.

THE UNIVERSITY AT COLLEGE PARK

UNIVERSITY TRADITIONS

Testudo is a Diamondback turtle. Like some other famous personages born into the Depression of the 1930s, the derivation of his name is cloudy. But it is likely that his moniker is derived from the scientific classification for turtle (testudines). Or the top turtle could be named after testudo gigantia, a species native to the African nation of Seychelles and one of its remote islands, Aldabra. Or the name could have come from a dictionary definition that says the word, testudo, was derived from the Latin and meant a shelter held over the head of Roman soldiers -like a tortoise shell. These explanations are a long way from the Chesapeake Bay where the Diamondback lives.

When Testudo had his coming out on May 23, 1933, he was thrown into a world filled with intimidating mascots—Wildcats, Tigers, Devils, Wolves, Bears—thought up over a half-century of intercollegiate competition. Maryland College Park was consolidated from different state schools in 1920 to form the base of today's wide-ranging state system, and the remodeled Maryland needed a flag carrier to do battle with Wahoos, Lions and Generals.

Dr. H.C. Byrd, a football coach who later became University President, recommended the Diamondback as mascot in 1932 in response to the student newspaper's search for an "official" leader. Byrd's childhood in Crisfield, Md., apparently included skirmishes with this brand of snapping turtle, indigenous to the Bay. The school paper was in fact already called The Diamondback, and when the Class of 1933 stepped forward with the idea of giving the University a permanent bronzed version as its graduation gift, Testudo's family was in to stay.

Maryland had been referring to itself as Old Liners, yet another name whose derivation no one seems sure of. Historians are in a scrimmage over whether the nickname is a reference to a Revolutionary War Troop of Maryland soldiers who distinguished themselves on the field of battle, or they feel it could refer to a squabble with Pennsylvanians over just where the border between the two states should be.

The Class of '33 raised money for casting a Diamondback by holding its Senior Prom on campus to save money on expenses. And the yearbook and Student Government Association chipped-in. Edwin C. Mayo, Class of '04 and a former quarterback, donated at cost the 300 pound bronzed beauty as President of Gorham Manufacturing in Providence, RI. Robert J. Hill cast the inspired sculpture accomplished by company artist Aristide Cianfrani. Further turtleization came when the student yearbook, The Reveille, became The Terrapin in 1935. Newspapers, even then exploring every angle, shortened Terrapin to Terp for headline writing ease when it wasn't trying to cram Old Liner into a single column head.The name was in place; now came the stuff of legend.

The Stuff of Legend

The nicely thought out plans that made Testudo an instant hit did have a flaw. Putting Mr. T in front of the campus gym, Ritchie Coliseum, exposed Testudo to every road agent wearing enemy colors. Ritchie was right on U.S. Route 1, then the principal North-South highway along the Eastern Seaboard. When a less dignified opponent needed something extra against the turtle and his troops, they practiced emotional blackmail and kidnapped him.

That was not the worst of it. They painted his golden skin enemy colors and defaced his pedestal which was only to have the block M on it. Instead, opponents painted illegitimate JH's or GW's or V's or NC's on his nest.A riot took place when Johns Hopkins' students kidnapped the handsome reptile in 1947; 200 police were called to the Baltimore campus to control the justified anger of College Park students. Two years later, the nifty shelled crusader was found on the lawn of a Virginia (The University) fraternity house, whose occupants smugly called President Byrd with the message to get Testudo off their lawn. Of course, Byrd obliged, and soon after, Testudo was hidden in the campus carpentry shop where he was less inspirational, but a whole lot safer.

The second stadium bearing Byrd's name was built in 1950, and in 1951 Testudo, sans coats of rivals' paint, took his perch in front of the Byrd Stadium football team house. He had beaten back all who would wrong him, and to make sure he would not travel again, he was fed 700 pounds of cement and had his body attached to a new pedestal by long steel rods.

With his permanent nesting came success for Maryland. Acting as guardian to waves of Terp competitors, the national football championship came, as did several ACC titles in the 1950s. His popularity among the students might have been the undoing of success, however. When McKeldin Library was constructed in the middle of campus, the student body demanded Testudo's full-time presence in the center of day-to-day activities. Testudo had gone far beyond being just a symbol for athletics. He was a campus symbol. Students carefully carried him up the hill to the main College Green and the library, and he was bolted to a new bed of stone in the early 1960s.

In 1992, a bronze twin to Testudo was created and installed just outside the new Football Complex locker room door. As the football team takes the field the team congregates around the bronze Terrapin and then, all touch his nose for good luck.

Another Terrapin is being installed to start 1995 in the Cole Field House lobby. Joel Meisner Co. of Farmingdale, N.Y., created the twin. Two men spent two days in June of 1992 pouring a rubberized material over Testudo as it sat in front of McKeldin Library, followed by a wax mold on top. After a day to let the molds set, the wax was broken and easily removed. The rubber mold, which actually recreated Testudo, was painstakingly peeled away from the bronze and taken back to Meisner's factory where the twin was created using the Lost Wax method.

While Testudo was being recreated in front of McKeldin in 1992, the research library was undergoing extensive refurbishment. As part of the new interior and exterior McKeldin received, the beast guarding its front doors, the original Testudo, was given a new pedestal and his bronze coat was cleaned. The Class of '33, which created Testudo in the first place, used its 60th reunion to dedicate the rejuvenated campus symbol.

Fifty-nine years ago, the Diamondback Turtle Gorham used as a model for the shelled wonder had a ribbon attached to it at the dedication. The ribbon was tied to the canvas covering the statue. The Diamondback moved forward and revealed the splendor of his larger, bronzed brother. But no one rushed the smaller Diamondback in his duties. All in attendance were true believers who knew what many unfaithful have discovered about Terrapins. They bite.

ACADEMIC SUPPORT UNIT

Towards a student athlete's development, ASU provides

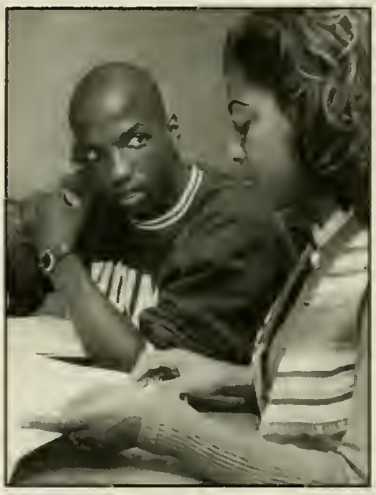
- Personal academic assessment
- Academic advising and counseling
- Supervised study
- Learning and study skills programs
- Computer training and usage
- Group and individual tutoring
- Career mentoring
- Summer internships

There is an insistence in the Maryland basketball program that student athletes get a degree in a career field that will enhance their life after College Park. The insistence is underlined by Coach Williams and his staff, by the athletic administration, and by the Academic Support Unit of the Department of Athletics.

Dr. Javaune Adams-Gaston, educator and clinical psychologist, is the Assistant Athletic Director for Athletic Student Services. She oversees the student athlete's educational and medical well-being by her management of the Academic Support Unit and the Athletic Medicine support staff.

A 1978 graduate of the University of Dubuque with a B.S. in biology, psychology and general sciences, she earned her Master's degree in Clinical Psychology from Loras College in 1980 and her Ph.D in Counseling Psychology from Iowa State in 1983. She was appointed to direct student counseling in the athletic department in 1988.

Dr. Adams-Gaston regularly provides time for individual student athletes as educational advisor and counselor. Her hands-on approach extends to a thorough series of seminars she and her staff hold that train the student athlete in pertinent education beyond the classroom. Seminars cover time management, study skills, stress management, motivation, drug education, career planning and vocational mentorship. The school year begins for newly recruited student athletes with not only an academic orientation program, but also a seminar on interacting with the news media by nationally known expert Kathleen Hessert.



Assisting Dr. Adams-Gaston are three experienced assistants.

John Bowman is Associate Director for Student Services for Academic Support. He returns to Academic Support after spending the past three years in the Office of Undergraduate Admissions. He had previously been Senior Advisor in Academic Support from 1987 through 1991. He was also an Athletic Advisor in 1986 in the Department of Undergraduate Studies and a coordinator in the campus's Intensive Education Development Program (1979-1986).

A 1969 graduate of Oberlin, he earned a Master's in Education from Case-Western Reserve in 1976.

Liz Friedman begins her fourth year as a full-time athletic department employee after four years of assisting student athletes on a part-time basis in the ASU. A native of Rockville, Md., and a graduate of College Park, she coordinates the Academic Support Unit's satisfactory progress monitoring system for all athletes and works daily with the football team in all aspects of academic support. The monitoring system is effective because of the full communication between the ASU staff, the faculty, and the student athletes.

Don Pearman is in his third year at College Park, but his experience in the University System numbers five years. Pearman works directly with the men's basketball team on a year-round support system. He formerly was program director of the Meyerhoff Scholarships at the University of Maryland at Baltimore County campus. A model program of minority recruitment in the fields of mathematics and science, the Meyerhoff program is widely emulated. In the ASU, Pearman is responsible for post-graduate scholarship endeavors, the unit's tutorial program, and he monitors six Varsity sports.

Pearman, a native of Brooklyn, N.Y., received both his Bachelor's degree in sociology and his Master's degree in counseling from St. Lawrence University.

College Park Academic Support

Towards a good start

The Academic Support Unit will teach an orientation course for freshmen student athletes (Education 108, Orientation to the University) to start the fall semester. The program will be taught by the Academic Support staff and will concentrate on skills and development issues. The course is intended to make the transition to college life easier.

The program allows the newcomer to balance their dual roles of academics and athletics in an unfamiliar environment. Student athletes are taught organizational skills, which include note taking, time management, pro-active planning, learning strategies, test-taking, and writing skills.

Making the first year special at Maryland

The University's First Year Focus program is designed to see that the new student gets off to a good start at College Park. It has three parts.

To make sure the new student becomes acquainted with the campus's most important resource-its faculty—First Year Focus provides the student with the opportunity to study with a member of the faculty in a small class, appropriate for first year students, devoted to that faculty member's scholarly interests.

The University invites the new student to participate in an innovative program called Connections: Course Clusters, which enables them to enroll in a variety of thematically related courses, supplemented by a one-credit linking seminar. Course Clusters not only allows the new student to examine a given subject intensely from a variety of disciplinary perspectives, but will also give you the opportunity to develop a network of friends who share intellectual interests.

The Student Government Association arranges for the new student to participate in its First Year Books activities. SGA selects a noteworthy book which it hopes will be an intellectual starting point for the incoming class of students. Many courses adopt it and incorporate it into their curricula. The book inevitably becomes subject to campus-wide debate in seminars, lectures, and even performances. The new student's copy of the selected book is waiting at orientation.

First Year Focus is designed to make the big university small, to allow the vast resources of a research university with some of the intimacy of a small college. The College Park Scholars Program and the University Honors Program also serve the same end.

College Park Scholars is a new program designed to acquaint entering first-year students with the rich texture of academic life at the university. The program encourages students who share common intellectual interests to study together in courses organized around common themes and to live together in a selected residence hall. The Scholars program provides a focus for study, advising and a variety of educational and social activities.

The University Honors Program provides the university's most academically talented students a challenging and exciting range of seminar-style classes, a close-knit community, and contact with outstanding faculty. Typically, freshmen and sophomores broaden their intellectual horizons in a wide variety of specially designed Honors seminars and Honors versions of regular courses, most of which fulfill general education requirements. A Honors lecture series, a literary magazine as well as a vibrant social and cultural life complement the academic offerings. Many of these activities take place in Anne Arundel Hall, the Honors Living Learning Center, which is the center of the Honors Program.

3 miles are all that separate a College Park student from Washington, D.C. The Washington monument is less than 10 miles away.

24 flavors of our own homemade ice cream, from our own home-grown cows, are available at the Campus Dairy in the Turner Building on Route 1 next to the Visitor Center.

25 locations on campus provide 446 PCs, plus CAD terminals and other computer-driven tools for study or research.

35 miles separate the College Park student from Baltimore and the Inner Harbor, one of the great river fronts in the world.

117 undergraduate majors are available at College Park.

186 stately columns grace the Georgian architecture of our major buildings, among them 35 residence halls providing rooms, suites, or apartments for 8,000 campus residents.

325 classrooms and laboratories set the stage for learning; courses in 110 different major fields of study offer choices and specialization's for every interest.

586 student-athletes participate at the NCAA level at College Park.

$591 million was the University's operating budget in 1992-93; included was financial aid for some 21,639 students.

"Cole Field House has become one of the hardest places to play in the Atlantic Coast Conference." Head Coach Gary Williams said following the Terps NCAA Tournament "Sweet 16" appearance last season. How else do you explaining the fact that the Terps were among the conference's best home court teams with a 10-3 overall record and a 5-3 record in conference play? How else do you explain the fact that in Williams's six-years as Maryland's head coach, the Terps have won nearly 75 percent of their games played in Cole.

The cheerleaders and pep band are among the most enthusiastic and devoted fans of the Maryland Basketball program. During the basketball season, both organizations work from opening tip to final buzzer and beyond in support of Terp basketball. Both the cheerleaders and the pep band play at all home games, the Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament and all post-season games. Both groups followed the team to Wichita and Dallas during the NCAA Tournament last season.

The enthusiastic and spirited Terp cheerleading squad placed eighth at the Collegiate Nationals sponsored by the National Cheerleading Association this past year in Dallas, Texas. The squad is coached by Lura Fleece and Tina Simijoski who are both former Terp cheerleaders. In addition to leading Cole Field House in cheers, the cheerleaders are also expert gymnasts and dancers. They are accompanied by a student who dresses up as Testudo, Maryland's famous mascot. The squad performs at many athletic department functions, pep rallies and area functions spreading Terp spirit and athletic awareness.

The pep band has become as much a part of Maryland basketball as full-court pressure defense and up-tempo offense under Gary Williams. The atmosphere in Cole as the band begins to play and the Terps take to the court is unmatched in any basketball court in the ACC. The pep band has been in existence since the opening of Cole and performs at every home game. In addition to traditional fight songs, the pep band provides an entertaining selection of well-known songs and show tunes to entertain and energize the sold-out crowds.

The entire basketball program, coaches and players, know how hard both the cheerleaders and pep band work on their behalf. The fact that tickets for Cole are sold out this season is proof that the support of the Terps is growing to levels never seen before in College Park.

"The work and effort that goes into preparing themselves each night for an entire season is incredible," says Williams. "Their tireless effort, gives us, I believe, the best support in the ACC. We love playing in Cole Field House because of their efforts."

TERP AIRWAVES

WBAL Radio (1090-AM) in Baltimore is the flagship station of the JP Sports/Maryland Radio Network, which has nearly 20 affiliates in Maryland, Pennsylvania and the District of Columbia.

Because of the success of the Maryland basketball program, the JP Sports/Maryland Radio Network is among the fastest growing networks in the Atlantic Coast Conference and on the entire East Coast. The network will carry all of the excitement of Terrapin basketball to audiences throughout the Mid-Atlantic region from the November exhibitions through the ACC Tournament in March and through all post-season play.

Johnny Holliday, sports director at WRC Radio in Washington, D.C., begins his 16th full season calling the play-by-play and is joined courtside by color commentator Greg Manning. Head Coach Gary Williams is heard before and after each game and he provides insightful comments and strategic breakdowns to all Terp basketball fans.

Johnny Holliday, Play-by-Play

Johnny Holliday, a 16-year veteran of the Maryland broadcast crew, has been calling the play-by-play for the Terps since 1979. He has developed a reputation as one of the most well versed and versatile play-by-play personalities in the Atlantic Coast Conference region. In addition to working on the Terp basketball broadcasts, he calls Maryland football and is currently among pioneering broadcasters for the sport of women's basketball.

Holliday is well known for his thorough preparation, attention to detail, smooth professional delivery and versatility. He does a masterful job of describing the action and relating the drama of major college basketball like few others in his profession.

Holliday's knowledge of sports and his versatility has allowed him to be a part of many of the worlds and regions most spectacular events. He has served as an ABC Radio host at the last seven Olympic Games, covering both the summer and winter Olympics in 1984, 1988 and 1992. He was also a part of the ABC crew for the Winter Olympics during the winter of 1994 in Norway. He also hosts a daily morning sports show on WRC radio in Washington and an afternoon show which is syndicated nationally by ABC Radio in Washington.

In addition to his work on Maryland basketball and football, he is also featured on several programs televised by Jefferson-Pilot Television and Home Team Sports. Holliday is currently in his second year as the studio host for the HTS program "ACC Sports Sunday" on which he deftly describes not only football and basketball but many of the highly successful Olympic sports contested by ACC teams. He has also been featured by HTS on many ACC baseball "Game of the Week" presentations and called the 1992 and 1993 ACC Championship games for the regional all-sports network.

Holliday became part of the Maryland athletic family in 1991. He serves as master of ceremonies at most Terp banquets and handles several speaking and celebrity engagements on behalf of the department. Holliday and his wife, Mary Claire, are the parents of three daughters: Kellie, Tracie, and Moira, 15.

Greg Manning, Color Commentary

Greg Manning, the Executive Director of the M Club for the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics, is in his eighth year as a member of the Maryland basketball broadcast crew. Manning has developed a very charismatic style of describing the action on the court, a style that fans of Terp basketball have grown accustomed.

As Executive Director of the M-Club, the letter winners' association, Manning has continued his devotion to all Terp sports through his daily professional life. He was appointed the Director of the M Club in 1991 and has worked to develop the organization into one of the top gift giving offices in the entire department of athletics. Manning has helped increase the number of active members in the M Club to nearly 4,000 during his short tenure.

Manning, Maryland class of 1981, gained fame on the court and in the class room for the Terps. He was among the top point guards in the ACC from 1977-81. He led the Terps to the regular season championship of the ACC and was named to the All-ACC Tournament team in 1980. As a four-year starter, he led the Terps to post-season play three times and to the eastern Region semifinals of the NCAA Tournament in 1980. Nearly 15 years after his playing career has ended, Manning is still listed prominently in the Terps recordbooks including holding the record for consecutive baskets made with 15 during the 1981 season.

Off the court, manning was a 1981 Academic All-American and a three-time All-ACC Academic selection. He earned an NCAA Post Graduate scholarship upon his graduation from Maryland.

Manning and his wife, Cathy, have a son, Greg, Jr., 9 and a daughter, Courtney, 5.

1993-94 IN REVIEW

A Look at Terp Achievements

SEASON REVIEW

Terps Provide a Season to Behold

Years from now, the 1993-94 men's basketball season at the University of Maryland will be remembered as one of those seasons.

It began in November with the major dilemma centering on how hard it would be for it to finish games playing all-out basketball, yet alone win them.

The Terps entered their season opener without a senior and nary a junior who would see any significant playing time, and a prediction looming by sophomore Exree Hipp that the Terps would finish "at least fourth or fifth in the Atlantic Coast Conference and reach the Sweet 16 of the NCAA Tournament."

Even his own teammates had to snicker a bit at that notion, but it was Hipp who was laughing at the end.

The Terrapins' season came to a heart-pounding finale with a 78-71 loss to the University of Michigan in Dallas's Reunion Arena on March 25. But what made this season one to behold wasn't how the Terps extended their season into the Sweet 16, or how they finished tied for fourth in the conference.

Rather, it was how a collection of mostly freshmen and sophomores brought about a resurgence in popularity to a program that had never totally recuperated from its past problems.

When Gary Williams took over the Terps' head coaching job in 1989, he was returning to his alma mater from Ohio State for what he thought was his dream job.

Early on, however, it became a nightmare.

After the program was hit was numerous NCAA sanctions that included no post-season tournament play for two years, no live television coverage for one and the repayment of over $400,000 in profits from the 1988 NCAA Tournament, the mood was grim around Cole Field House.

Top starters considered transferring, promising recruits changed their minds, and after a 19- win season, the Terps finished seventh or eighth in the conference standings for the next three years.

In 1993-94, however, that all changed.

Starting sophomores Johnny Rhodes and Hipp were joined in the starting lineup by classmate Duane Simpkins and freshmen Keith Booth and Joe Smith.

Williams made some modifications on his offensive scheme and counted on Simpkins to carry the plan out.

"It was very critical the he could run the point for us," Williams said of Simpkins, who saw limited playing time his freshman season. "The job was his and if he didn't come through, it really could have created problem's for us."

Hipp and Rhodes had been starters as freshmen and knew their roles well. Hipp, a forward, would continue his flair for the athletic throughout the season, and Rhodes established himself as one of the dominant guards in the nation. Rhodes's ability to play both the offensive and defensive ends of the court made Maryland much more of a multi-dimensioned team.

Booth was thought to be the prized recruit, and turned down offers from schools such as Duke to help return the basketball pride to his home state school.

Smith was initially considered somebody who could provide some valuable minutes, but he averaged 19 points and nearly 11 rebounds a game on his way to being named the consensus national freshman of the year. He became only the third freshman in ACC history to be named first team All-Conference.

"Joe gave us the big player we needed to compete in the ACC and the NCAA Tournament," Williams said.

Smith made a name for himself by utilizing his quickness in the paint, and showing a solid shooting touch that made him dangerous against everyone from Georgetown University's Othella Harrington to North Carolina's Eric Montross.

"Smith knows how to use his quickness," Montross said. "Oh, yeah, I'm very impressed. You have to be."

Montross wasn't the only one who was impressed with Smith. The Carolina senior as well as Duke's Cherokee Parks were beaten out for First team All-ACC honors at the end of the season by Smith.

In the Terps' regular season opener versus then -No. 15 Georgetown, Smith scored 26 points and pulled down nine rebounds as Maryland pulled out an 84-83 overtime victory that was sealed when Simpkins dropped a knuckleball floater in the basket in the closing seconds.

After his shot dropped in and the clock ticked off, Simpkins leapt on the press table and raised his arms as though the Terps had just won the national Championship.

"I'll cherish that for the rest of my life," he said in the locker room following the wild on-court celebration at USAir Arena.

The pre-ACC schedule continued, and the Terps dropped just two of their next eight games. A furious comeback came too late in Oklahoma City, as the Terps fell to the University of Oklahoma, 88-85, and foul trouble hurt the Terps in a 94-80 loss to the University of Massachusetts in the championship game of the Hall of Fame Tournament. The 14 point loss would be Maryland's largest of the season.

The underdog struck again in the Terps' ACC opener, as they shot 53.7 percent from the field and held off then no. 12 Georgia Tech, 91-88, in Atlanta. It was the Terps' first win in Atlanta since the 1980 season.

Williams looked to the victories over Georgetown and Georgia Tech as major keys to the team's overall success.

"Those two wins gave us some confidence that we could play with the big boys," Williams said. "With young guys, those one or two wins get you over the fear factor."

That confidence translated into more wins, and on January 26, the Terps had jumped out to a 12-3 record, their best start since the 1978-79 team that won the ACC regular season championship.

But for a couple of games as February began, that confidence began to slip away.

Simpkins boasted that his team would beat then-No. 2 Duke in the always hostile Cameron Indoor Stadium, a claim that was heard by several of the Duke players.

The Blue Devils ran past the Terps for a 75-62 victory that began a four game losing streak, during which the Terps never lead at any point during the streak.

The streak ended in Tallahassee, Fla., where Booth led the Terps to an always important conference road victory against a very game Florida State team. Booth led the Terps with a strong inside game and a fantastic day from the free throw line. He was the major factor in the fouling out of Seminole big men Andre Reid and Kirk Luchman, and along the way, scored 15 points and grabbed 11 rebounds. Booth hit on a personal best 11 free throws during the victory.

That win sparked a three-game wining streak that helped rescue the Terps sinking hopes at the program's first NCAA Tournament bid since 1988.

But with 15 wins and only one more to assure a .500 finish in the ACC, the Terps needed to beat either N.C. State or Clemson (both on the road) to virtually guarantee a tournament berth.

The Terps lost both games and had to go searching for the elusive victory versus either Duke or Virginia.

The Blue Devils, then ranked No. 1 in the country, escaped a raucous Cole Field House with a 73-69 win, but Virginia wasn't so lucky.

Simpkins boosted the Terps with a school record tying 11-11 performance from the free throw line and the team hit 90 percent from the line to defeat the Cavaliers, 70-68. Students flooded the court and celebrated with the team as if an NCAA Tournament berth had been clinched.

It was, but the Terps 69-63 first-round loss to the same Virginia team in the first round of the ACC Tournament cast a doubt that left the entire program and its loyal followers on edge prior to the announcement of the tournament field.

Only 12 teams of the 64-team NCAA Tournament field hadn't been announced when the Terps were paired against St. Louis in the first round in Wichita, Kansas.

But it didn't matter.

It only made the Terps' joyful screams louder when their name was announced.

A would-be romp past St. Louis became a narrow win that hinged on the defensive wizardry of Rhodes, whose mid-court pick of Earwin Claggett ensured a 74-66 win and a rematch with Massachusetts, the region's second seed.

The Terps rallied to overcome a 10-point second half deficit that began with a three-pointer by Mario Lucas with 16:58 remaining.

"Lucas hit that three and it stemmed the tide, " Massachusetts Head Coach John Calapari said. "I couldn't believe he stepped up to shoot it, and he hit it."

The year was bound to end sometime, however, and that time came when the Terps could not overcome a 21-point deficit against third seeded Michigan in the Midwest Regional semifinals in Dallas, Texas.

Despite the loss, Rhodes took nothing but positives from the Terps glorious run throughout the season.

"A lot of people didn't expect us to go as far as we went," said Rhodes, whose 78 steals during the season broke his own single season mark of 71. "We established ourselves as being back on the college basketball map."
